'We Must Fight for Our Existence,' Cries Hisgen, Urging War on Trusts

Thomas L. Hisgen, Independence League candidate for Governor, speaking at rally in Haverhill.

My friends, the wage-earners: I want to say to you that I am in perfect sympathy with your efforts to better your conditions. I am also heartily in favor of a trial by jury in contempt cases arising from trouble between you and your employers. I believe the power of the courts to secure injunctions in labor disputes should be modified and limited by law in such a manner as has been recommended by the American Federation of Labor.—Thomas L. Hisgen.

Independence League Candidate in Rousing Speech at Haverhill Cheered by Crowds.

HAVERHILL, Oct. 17.—An enthusiastic audience that filled Farmers' Hall on Merrimac street, this city, last evening, greeted Thomas L. Hisgen, candidate on the Independence League ticket for Governor, in his initial rally of the campaign.

The meeting was presided over by Rev. Roland D. Sawyer, and besides Mr. Hisgen, eloquent speeches were made by Walter Russell, former Mayor of Lynn, and William N. Osgood, chairman of the Independence League.

The meeting was attended by thoughtful men, who gave the closest attention to the speakers.

In calling the meeting to order, Rev. Mr. Sawyer said:

The League Convention.

"This movement is not a joke, it is an energetic campaign waged by earnest people, and any impression you have gained otherwise will be speedily disabused when you recall that all the Boston papers, with the exception of the AMERICAN, have persistently misrepresented us.

"These papers in a large measure furnish the news and create the sentiment of the State, but for the last year they have misrepresented the magnificent movement which Hisgen has begun, so this year they are misrepresenting us.

"Now, I will say a word about our convention. It was a goodly gathering of serious voters, conducted in a decent manner. Contrast this with the farce in Boston ruled by Lodge, and the fight in Springfield ruled by the mob.

"If you want to protest against boss rule and mob rule the way to do it is to vote the Independence League ticket.

"Third, about our platform. It may be summarized into the following eleven planks, and in our behalf platform, to my mind, ever offered the voters of the Bay State:

"We demand: 1—The initiative and referendum. 2—Public ownership of public utilities. 3—Jury trial in contempt of court cases. 4—Anti-merger. 5—Anti-monopoly. 6—Decrease of the hours of labor. 7—Election of judges by the people to serve a term of years. 8—Recognition of labor unions. 9—Election of United States Senators by the people. 10—I will law to release the farmers and cities from the grasp of the Metropolitan Water Act. 11—I will law to release employes from assuming all risks in their employment.

"These are the things we demand. Each of these planks is defended and argumented—clear cut and unevasive, they declare what we stand for, and if you believe in them vote with us."

Likened to Good Samaritan.

Mr. Hisgen received an ovation when he was introduced. In the course of his address he said:

"The Democratic corpse is now on. The dis graceful fight at the Democratic convention held at Springfield recently is no doubt fresh in your minds. The rank and file of the good Democratic party, now controlled by a lot of selfish, unscrupulous politicians, has fallen by the wayside in about the same manner as the traveler in the Old Testament when he journeyed from Jerusalem to Jericho.

"What the Good Samaritan did for the traveler at that time the Independence party is doing to-day for the unfortunate decent element in the Democratic party who is now thoroughly disgusted with its boss, who seem bent upon but one purpose, and that is to drag the party down to disgrace and humiliation.

"I am at a loss to understand what the

'MISS ANGLIN IS MY LONG MISSING DAUGHTER, GRACE'

—Mrs. James Stevenson

Amazing Claim of Widow of Millionaire Boston Real Estate Man—Disappearance of Grace Stevenson Caused Sensation Years Ago.

Mrs. James Stevenson, widow of the millionaire real estate man, and her daughter, Miss Lillian Stevenson, repeated their declarations to-day to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter that Miss Margaret Anglin, the famous actress, is Grace Stevenson, the Boston girl who mysteriously disappeared from her Boston home April 26, 1897.

"I know she is my daughter," said Mrs. Stevenson.

"I am positive she is my sister," declared Miss Lillian Stevenson.

Both Mrs. Stevenson and Miss Lillian say this despite all denials Miss Anglin may produce to prove that she is not the missing Grace Stevenson, in searching for whom her mother and relatives have spent hundred of thousands of dollars.

"She is the sort of a girl who would deny her real identity," Mrs. Stevenson told a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter, "but look at the picture of my missing daughter and Miss Anglin and compare them. Compare a picture of Miss Anglin with my daughter Lillian. That will convince anyone that we are right in our contention."

Miss Anglin meanwhile in her apartments in New York is silent and will not see reporters. Neither will she permit anyone connected with the theatrical company in which she is the star to make any statements.

Friends of Miss Anglin, who live in Boston laugh at the contention of the Stevensons.

Miss Margaret Anglin was born on Waterloo street, St. John, N. B., and was the daughter of the late Timothy Warren Anglin, editor of the St. John, N. B., Freeman, and for years speaker of the House of Parliament at Ottawa, Ont. Mark A. Melville, a former St. John man now living in Boston, says:

"I knew Margaret when she was a child, and when she was born lived in the house next to that occupied by her family."

A horde of reporters and photographers are gathered about the Stevenson home at No. 1473 Beacon street, Brookline, to-day, and friends of the family have been constantly in communication with its members by telephone.

Mrs. Stevenson Disappears.

Mrs. Stevenson, early to-day, after she had received a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter, disappeared and her daughter Lillian says that she has gone away.

"Mother has gone to the theatre in New York. I am not sure which, to solve this mystery," she said, slowly, according to Miss Lillian.

Servants of the household said confidentially that Mrs. Stevenson is in her home, but that she is trying to avoid newspaper representatives.

In her remarkable statement to the BOSTON AMERICAN Mrs. Stevenson says:

"I have tried to see my daughter, but she has refused to see me," declared Mrs. Stevenson. "I don't know what to do."

Disappeared Ten Years Ago.

Grace Stevenson disappeared on the night of April 26, 1897, and for months the newspapers of the United States were filled with accounts of the strange mystery. All private detectives and the newspapers had given up the search before mother continued her hunt in hospitals and institutions, alone. Then she gave up.

"It was ten years ago," said Mrs. Stevenson, "that my daughter and I first saw a picture of the actress. It was on a billboard. We were both deeply impressed by it. It is dead."

Then, she says, we went to the theatre where she was appearing in a play called "The Eternal City." It was my daughter's child. But I wanted to make sure.

"We went to see her again the next night. This time there could be no mistake. Pictures might be wrong, but there was no mistaking."

Refused an Audience.

"I sent in a note, signed 'Mother,' asking her to see me or her sister. She sent back a message that she would not see me. She refuses to see me. She is now in New York. I would go to her at once, but would let her see me.

"But how did you find out all this?" asked Mrs. Stevenson, who for months past has been engaged in her own investigations.

"I have kept my knowledge to myself, and tried at times to do what I could to see my daughter and let her acknowledge me as my lost child come back to life. But I have failed."

Friends of Miss Anglin, the actress, declare that Mrs. Stevenson's story is impossible—that she is mistaken. All of the biographies of the actress state clearly that she was born in Ottawa, Canada, where her father was speaker of the Canadian House of Commons.

'FROLIC'S' MEN ARRAIGNED AS SMUGGLERS

TRIAL SET FOR TO-MORROW

James B. Lehnemann and Goddman Phillips, who were arrested in October, 1906, charged with smuggling forty-two Chinamen into the United States on the Boston yacht Frolic, which was seized at Providence after she had eluded three revenue cutters in a thrilling chase, appeared in the United States Court to-da to lead to the indictments against them.

Assistant District Attorney Sullivan appeared for the government, but Attorney Hervey A. Pratt, counsel for the two defendants, who is one of the Bartlett counsel before the Ballot Law Commission, was unable to appear and the case went over until to-morrow.

Lehnemann and Phillips have been out on bail of $2,000.

The case of the Frolic from the Newfoundland coast was one of the most sensational smuggling episodes ever known, of the forty-two Orientals who succeeded in landing under the noses of the Federal officials on the watch, only twenty-one were caught. Seventeen were deported and four escaped after furnishing $500 bonds.

STOPS PASSENGER TRAIN RACING TOWARD WRECK

BRAVE FIREMAN'S WARNING AVOIDS COLLISION WITH BLAZING CARS AT EVERETT.

Fire and train disaster on the Eastern Division of the Boston & Maine road, about 200 yards southwest of the Everett station, early to-day, caused terror in the neighborhood and gave the firemen a hard battle.

It was one of the most picturesque and startling battles ever fought by Everett and Malden fire fighters.

No lives were lost, but passengers on a train that rounded the curve which hides the Everett station were said from running into a lake of blazing gasoline and into wrecked freight cars by the presence of mind and devotion to duty of Fireman H. W. Rice. Thrown from his post in the freight locomotive when his train was derailed, he scrambled from the road-bed and seizing a red flag ran back to warn approaching trains.

A train was then leaving the Everett station, about one-fifth of a mile away, and, owing to the curving of the track, its engineer could not have seen the freight wreck until almost upon it if Fireman Rice had not given warning with the danger flag.

Block Three Tracks.

The wreck blocked two tracks and the wrecking train a third, so that traffic on the Eastern Division by the regular route was stopped for several hours. Trains to and out of Boston had to be sent over the Saugus branch.

There were seven tank cars on the wrecked train. They held gasoline, benzine and naphtha. When the gasoline caught fire and exploded in a tank there was for a while danger of a conflagration, but prompt work by railroad men and firemen, who finally had to fight the flames from the top of freight cars, the very ground being ablaze, prevented the other oil cars from taking fire.

Several big manufacturing plants were threatened with destruction. One had 5,000 gallons of wood alcohol stored on its premises, and firemen feared this would explode and spread havoc far and wide.

Train hands had the most nerve-racking escapes. Engineer E. E. Wright had to break the cab window and climb out over the tender. The only fireman hurt was Fred Francis, head brakeman, who was riding in the locomotive cab, and was in imminent peril of being crushed or burned to death.

Call Help from Malden.

So threatening was the fire peril that the Everett fire department at once called for assistance from Malden.

The freight train, known as G. G. No. 3, was a heavy one. It had about twenty cars beside the tank cars.

The accident occurred beside the Commonwealth Manufacturing Company's long shed. This concern makes wood alcohol and the cheeks of firemen blanched when they saw the shed had caught fire. The flames spread to a building owned by the Boston Car and Engineering Company. But neither structure was much damaged.

Now that there is no rush to get to the factory of the Simons-Dawson Shoe Manufacturing Company a hundred men and women are employed there and the building was completed at noon, one awarding to the owner of the wreck.

The property damage is estimated at $12,000.

Climbs Through Window.

Engineer Wright said: "We were going along as an eight-hour act when all of a sudden a girl told me the engine was running too fast. There was a crash and the freight tank was tripped by the tender. There was a burst of flame all over the tender. I broke the cab window and climbed over the boiler.

TO FINISH BARTLETT EVIDENCE BY TO-NIGHT

MORE WITNESSES TESTIFY SPRINGFIELD CONVENTION WAS ORDERLY.

At the resumption of the hearing before the Ballot Law Commission at the State House to-day to decide whether the name of Charles W. Bartlett or Henry M. Whitney should go upon the ballot as the nominee of the Democratic State convention for Governor, Counsel Gorge L. Mayberry said that he expected to conclude the Bartlett case this afternoon.

I believe that the commission will be able to render a decision some time to-night," said Mr. Mayberry to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter.

While Secretary of State Olin has announced that the decision must reach him by 5 o'clock to-night in order to give time for the printing of the ballots, it was said to-day that the time might be extended until to-morrow noon.

It was planned to have the hearing start at 9:30 to-day, but for some reason not made known, Chairman Cunningham did not announce the opening until 10:15.

Coonel Sweeney a Witness.

The first witnesses called corroborated the testimony of other Bartlett supporters during the Springfield convention and been issued apparently in the same method as at other conventions, and that the proceedings were regular.

Colonel John F. Sweeney told how a man who, he was informed, was Aldermen Curtis of Boston, mounted a seat and through a megaphone kept a constant shouting of "Three cheers for Daniel J. Bradinghan," which was the name the Whitney supporters applied to Mr. Riley, and "Sell Whitney and buy Trinity."

One witness was surprised at the "loud cries of 'Aye' when Mr. Feeney put the question that Mr. Riley be made temporary chairman.

Among the witnesses to be heard to-day is Mr. Riley, the man who hired the theatre at Springfield for the convention and who directed the proceedings as chairman.

"Neither Convention Legal."

E. Gerry Brown, candidate of the Independence League for Lieutenant Governor, made his appearance at the hearing and announced his intention of arguing before the commission that neither the Bartlett convention nor the Whitney convention was legal. Mr. Brown said he had no evidence to offer but he has been given permission to use the evidence brought out before the commission.

HEINZE MILLIONS TO FIGHT STANDARD OIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—In a sensational statement issued to-day by Otto Heinze & Co., whose manipulations in United Copper caused the $2,000,000 failure of Otto Heinze and his brother Augustus, it is declared that Otto Heinze had been dropped from the firm and that it would refuse to pay any obligations which it did not consider right and just.

"Rather than submit to unjust demands," the statement continues, "the firm prefers to be temporarily suspended from the privileges of the stock exchange."

Following the statement, which proved a sensation in Wall Street, came the official announcement from F. Augustus Heinze that he had sent in his resignation as president of the Mercantile National Bank and that in future he would devote his entire time to what promises to be the greatest copper fight in the history of the country.

To Fight Standard Oil.

This virtually means that F. Augustus Heinze will pull his brothers from the fight and will lead the battle in their endeavors to corner United Copper, and wages the final issue in the powerful battle with the copper magnate who long waged against H. H. Rogers and the Amalgamated interests.

It is declared by those in Wall Street that the failure of F. Augustus Heinze has lost between $10,000,000 and $50,000,000 in his efforts to beat Rogers, and that the failure of Otto Heinze & Company suffered in the oppositions of almighty Oil.

He says the statement issued by the last named firm:

Arthur P. Heinze is no longer a member of the firm of Otto Heinze && Co., the firm is perfectly solvent and will meet and pay all its just and legal obligations. It is, however, refuses to pay obligations which it does not consider legal or just until a proper adjudication of the matter has been made rather than submit to such unjust demands; it prefers to permit itself to temporarily be suspended from the privileges of the Stock Exchange.

CURES ECZEMA QUICKLY.

New Drug, Paslam, Now Obtainable in Small Quantities.

Since its introduction last year, the new drug, paslam, has successfully cured thousands of chronic cases of eczema and other distressing skin affections. Hereafter paslam has been dispensed, even for the benefit of eczema patients, in large jars sufficient for a month's treatment. This was found to be an inconvenience to many thousands who use it in their spare time, such as ladies, barbers, nurses, scalp specialists, hairdressers, fishing fleet, piles, &c., which require but a small quantity of paslam. In response to this to the request to ingent appeals, the dispensers of paslam have been obliged to adopt the plan of selling the regular dollar package, a special introductory size, which is on sale at Hoagland's & Dupont's and all leading drug stores or may be ordered direct from the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

In all eczema cases paslam stops itching with first applications and proceeds to heal immediately; first symptoms of improvement in two weeks. In less serious skin troubles results are seen after an overnight application. Samples for experimental purposes may still be had, free of charge, by writing to the laboratories or calling for them.—Adet.

STATE A. F. OF L. DENOUNCES DRAPER IN STINGING RESOLUTION

UNION VOTERS WILL FIGHT HIM AT POLLS

Special to the Boston American.

MILFORD, Oct. 17.—By a practically unanimous vote Lieutenant-Governor Eben S. Draper was denounced in a series of resolutions passed by the State Branch of the American Federation of Labor assembled in annual convention yesterday. Amid great enthusiasm it was voted that the labor movement in this State unite to crush him at the polls this Fall, because, as the resolution reads: "In all the annals of unionism there never appeared a more bitter foe to organized labor than Eben S. Draper, as shown by his acts in the past, and that it is the opinion of all that the condition of affairs in Hopedale is a blot upon our country and its constitution."

In one of the most exciting meetings in its history, participated in by over 175 delegates representing thousands and tens of thousands voters, the Federation sets its seal of disapproval upon the Hopedale manufacturer and condemnatory as were the resolutions adopted, still more fiery and denunciatory were the speeches which followed the presentation of the report before its adoption.

Ovation for Brown.

Delegate E. Gerry Brown received a tremendous ovation, lasting several minutes after delivering a speech on the attitude of the Democratic leaders in ignoring the right of labor to a representation on a State ticket, and the applause only ended when the President vigorously wield the gavel.

Two times the convention without a shot of dissent extended the time of Mr. Brown while speaking, and no sense was offending that a big drop could be heard, so flutterance that "the Democratic party was you, that is one thing; but when want it to keep you in your way, it is entirely different question," evidently struck a responsive chord in the hearts those present, for he was cheered to echo.

The report of the committee was as follows:

SPECIAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Milford, Mass., Oct. 16, 1907.

To the twenty-second annual convention of the Massachusetts State branch of the American Federation of Labor:

Greeting.

Your committee was appointed by the Executive Committee to investigate the charges made by F. R. Gordon, who has at the time an organizer for the A. F. of L., prior to the State election, and, that the State Branch convention at Lawrence "stopped over" when that body passed resolution No. 24, which read as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the united sentiment of the Massachusetts State Branch of the A. F. of L. that the hour has struck in defence of its organized life, and that organized labor must stand shoulder to shoulder in defence of its sacred rights."

Whereas, Eben S. Draper of Hopedale, Massachusetts, has been nominated for Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, it is the united sentiment of this convention that the union men of the State would exert every effort to defeat the said Draper at coming election.

"In all the annals of unionism there never appeared a more bitter foe to organized labor than Eben S. Draper, as being shown by his acts in the past, and that it is the opinion of all that the conditions of affairs as they exist at Hopedale is a blot upon our country and its constitution.

Your committee was also appointed to consider the conduct of Charles H. Winslow, first vice-president of the State Branch.

After carefully considering the documentary evidence placed in their hands by the executive board of the State Branch and making inquiries in other directions, your committee finds

That Mr. F. R. Gordon was either ignorant of the facts in the case or he willfully misrepresented them when he made the statements relating to the trouble of the iron moulders with Eben S. Draper.

The evidence submitted justifies the demands and continuance of the opposition that has been made thus far to Eben S. Draper, and we suggest that our executive committee be made the campaign committee, with power to add to its numbers to take up the campaign against Eben S. Draper and secure the largest possible vote against him.

Corrects Littlefield Story.

Mr. Gordon's statements that Mr. Draper bought coal for $15 a ton and sold it to his employees for $8 during the Winter of the coal strike, we find upon investigation to be incorrect.

The fact that Mr. W. H. Burney of the Hopedale Ice Company, being indicted by the Grand Jury of Suffolk County for conspiring to raise the price of ice, Mr. Draper, being the representative of the Draper Coal and Ice Company, shows that Mr. Draper did not exert himself very much to keep the price of ice from being raised.

It is the unanimous opinion of your committee that Mr. Gordon, while pretending to be working in the interest of organized labor, was really working for the election of Eben S. Draper to the office of Lieutenant-Governor, contrary to the desires of the A. F. of L., which is to defeat your enemies and elect your friends, as the action of the State branch on Mr. Draper's candidacy shows.

Therefore we recommend that President Gompers of the A. F. of L. be requested to revoke F. R. Gordon's commission as organizer without delay.

Report Upon Winslow.

Now as to C. H. Winslow, first vice-president of the State Branch.

"Resolved, That we condemn Lieutenant-Governor Eben S. Draper and his attitude towards organized labor at Hopedale, where he discriminated against union labor and from which town he drove out the union machinists and union iron moulders, and we call on organized labor to exercise itself in an effort to defeat his candidacy for the office of Lieutenant-Governor."—Resolution adopted by State Branch, A. F. of L.

Mr. Winslow was commissioned by the executive board of the State Branch to make an organizing tour of the Western part of the State, to address meetings and support the attitude of the convention, and we believe if he carried out his work as ordered by the convention and as he voted he ought to have denied the interview published by the Haverhill Sunday Record of October 27, 1906, which reads as follows:

"The Hearst movement, through its agent, E. Gerry Brown, the so-called Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, in committing the A. F. of L. convention to the anti-Draper resolution is proving a boomerang. Vice-President Winslow, as ordered by the convention as he voted he ought to have denied the interview published by the Haverhill Sunday Record of October 27, 1906, which reads as follows:

d time Democrat is going to do if he won't vote for any one else besides Whitney or Bartlett. He might be like the man who took a look through a microscope at the water he was about to drink and saw a thousand live insects squirming around. The scientist would say "Boil the water." Why should I, replied the man, "I might just as well swallow a mosquito as a graveyard.

"I speak as an old time Democrat and am sure all libertymen will join with me in offering up a thousand thanks at the privilege that we have to-day of all voting for the principles of Jefferson and Hancock under the banner of the Independence League.

"I shall not discuss all the many good issues that we find in our platform, but shall speak of the plank regarding labor.

Favors Trial by Jury.

"My friends the wage-earners: I want to say to you that I am in perfect sympathy with your efforts to better your conditions. I am entirely in favor of a trial by jury in contempt cases arising from trouble between you and your employers, and I believe that the power of the courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes should be modified and limited by law in such a manner as has been recommended by the American Federation of Labor.

"Government by injunction did not attract much attention or opposition when applied to labor organizations only, but when injunctions were issued against the enforcing of State laws such as have been passed by the Legislature in the name of the Southern States reducing the railroad rate from an exorbitant price per mile to a fair one, the people became alarmed and began to the realization that threatened their rights and liberties.

"It is our duty always to bear in mind the words of the Constitution of the United States that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law and that every person is entitled to equal protection of the law.

Equal and Exact Justice.

"This means equal and exact justice for all, regardless of race, creed or color, justice for the strong and weak, the rich and the poor alike.

"My friends, you are interested in good wages and reasonable hours, and in this relation should be interested in the same thing. Any employer who has a heart instead of a stone knows that the more he pays the better the work. Good wages mean plenty of money to be spent in the stores, for rent and in every direction.

"The time has gone by when a man in business can imagine his interests are so different from those of a mechanic or any other workman. I would like to speak from experience.

"I have not forgotten the time, about twenty-five years ago, when I was employed as a vending salesman in Boston, at that time were from 7 o'clock to 9 and 10 o'clock at night. Thanks to your organizations, the wage-earners' conditions have been greatly improved since that time.

Time for Workingman to Fight.

"Yet, Gentlemen, at no time in the history of our Commonwealth, was there greater need of united action. With the trusts controlling the necessities of life and continually advancing the cost of living without a corresponding increase of wages, it is time for us all to turn on the light and make a fight for our every interest.

"For I am elected Governor of this good old Commonwealth I will promise you that I will not be the tool or servant of the trusts, but will endeavor to give you an administration based on honest principles and non-partisan principles.

"In his speech Mr. Osgood said:

"The recent State conventions in Massachusetts and New York of the League prove that the American people are aroused. The recent first national convention of the League in New York was attended by enthusiastic representatives from all parts of the States.

"The Independence League is the safest and most conservative political organization in existence in the United States. It is not socialistic nor anarchistic. It believes in the principles handed down by our fathers in such a manner as has been recommended by the American Federation of Labor.

"Government by injunction must be prevented. It is the duty of the State to protect the real interests of labor and capital, and that those interests are in fact identical. It is opposed to monopoly and trusts, which have enormously increased the cost of living of our citizens. It is against grafters and public plunderers and exploiters.

"It favors direct legislation, and that the letter as well as the spirit of our Constitution shall be respected by all departments of government; that the officials of the State shall not exceed their powers and are at all times accountable to them."

At Fall River This Evening.

"It is in favor of public ownership of public utilities. Many successful examples can be seen on every hand. It is unnecessary to visit foreign countries to find ample demonstration of the fitness and ability of the American people to handle public business.

Mr. Walter Ramsdell made an eloquent address that was frequently applauded.

Mr. Hisgen returned to Boston from Haverhill last evening and will speak at Fall River this evening.

A. O. H. PLANS ANNUAL BALL

Division No. 42, Ancient Order of Hibernians, will hold its eleventh annual ball in Roughan Hall, City Square, Charlestown, Friday evening, Nov. 15. The committee in charge includes Thomas Kirwan, Edward Finnerty, Patrick Higgins, Thomas Higgins, Michael Gallen, James Kaveney and John Thrumbell. The State and county officers will be the guests of the occasion.

C. A. ALLEN DEAD AT WEYMOUTH HOME

Charles A. Allen, for four years financial secretary and business agent of Photo-Engravers' Union No. 3 of Boston, died last night at his home, No. 164 Randolph street, South Weymouth. He was very well known in labor circles and had been employed on the Boston American and other Boston newspapers. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon at the home.

NEW CAFE IS OPENED

Bova's Italian cafe, Nos. 96 Arch street and 17 Otis street, was thrown open to the public yesterday at noon, and the patronage showed the demand for such a high-grade restaurant at that part of the city. An Italian orchestra with soloists furnished music of real merit during the dining hours at noon and in the evening.

The new eating house, which is equipped with both booths and tables, will cater to the very best trade, and the prices are entirely reasonable, so that the business man will find it an admirable place for luncheon. The restaurant has been fitted out in Italian style, the walls being appropriately painted in semi-Oriental effects, while the furniture is of natural woods stained a dark green.

REV. E. E. HALE QUITS.

WORCESTER, Oct. 17.—The annual meeting of the American Antiquarian Society was held here yesterday, and Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, who was elected to the presidency last year, declined a re-election, and Waldo Lincoln of Worcester was chosen for the place.

COAL CLUB SETS PRICE; WE TRAIL IN, SAYS DEALER

"The Coal Club of Boston undoubtedly makes the price of coal in Greater Boston, or its members do, whether rightfully or wrongfully, legally or illegally, as to that I cannot say," said Vice-President Warren M. Hill of the Consumers' Coal Company to the BOSTON AMERICAN this morning.

"The real blame for the coal situation in my opinion is way out beyond the tide water, among the coal barons, who control the mines and the railways, and who work a systematic sliding scale of prices year after year, according to seasons and the demand for coal.

"It is a rule with them, beginning in the spring, to advance the price, say 10 cents a month per ton, starting in to be regular 50 cents per ton increase when cold weather comes on and the greatest amount of coal is burned.

"This year the price has raised 75 cents a ton on certain coals, or 25 cents more than usual.

"Now, if you wish me to justify the local rake in price, I should first point to this increase and to the fact that freight rates have jumped this year from a dollar to a dollar and a quarter against seventy-five to ninety cents a ton, making a raise in all commodities necessary. For instance, hay costing $18 last year is worth $25 this fall and grain in proportion, oats costing sixty-five or seventy cents a bushel against forty-five or fifty cents at this time last year.

"How do we know when the price of coal jumps in Boston? I, for one, read it in the papers. Maybe if we belonged to the Coal Club we would be notified. I am not sure and I don't know how the members get their notices. We have come to believe that the Coal Club meets, discusses freight rates, the cost of provisioning for animals, the attitude of the coal barons and railroads and that somehow out of those meetings there comes a figure at which coal must sell after a certain date. The rest of us trail along, recognizing that the local exigency calls for the raise, but not fully understanding what the inside figuring is that precipitates the raise.

"Just at this time we are being pinched most on so-called steam coals, or soft coal, and those who have not bought ahead are finding themselves forced to pay more money than usual for these grades. The pinch is therefore more seriously felt by the manufacturing users than by individual consumers.

PIPER HEIDSIECK
CHAMPAGNE FLAVOR
PLUG TOBACCO

costs a little more than ordinary tobacco, of course, because it is made from careful selections of the very best.

Some tobaccos are very popular in one section, some in another, but Piper Heidsieck is the one high grade tobacco which is sold everywhere in every good tobacco store—no high-class tobacco dealer would think of being without it.

Used by more men who insist on the highest quality of chewing tobacco than all other brands combined.

MUNYON'S GREAT GIFT

His Remedies To Be Given Away Absolutely Free

Ten Thousand Bottles of His Guaranteed Rheumatism Cure to Be Distributed From the Office of the Boston American

Distribution Begins Friday Morning at 8 o'Clock

EVERYBODY INVITED

We Ask Every Sufferer of Rheumatism to Call and Get a Free Bottle.

Professor Munyon has requested the BOSTON AMERICAN to make another distribution of his guaranteed Rheumatism Cure. This makes the sixteenth distribution Professor Munyon has made in Boston.

His proposition is certainly a fair one. He does not ask the people to invest one penny. On the contrary, he invites everybody to call for a free bottle. Even the greatest skeptics will admit that this is a fair and generous proposition.

It is said that Professor Munyon has made millions of dollars by this liberal plan. His remedies are sold throughout the civilized world, and he claims that his Rheumatism Cure has cured more rheumatics than all the doctors, pills and medicines that have ever been compounded.

From the testimonials that have been published from the leading people of the world it would seem that his statement is fully justified. He certainly must know that his remedies will do all that he claims for them, or he would not distribute them free.

Column after column of testimonials have been published in the leading dailies from well-known citizens who have been cured by his Rheumatism Cure. His remedies are guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Law, and Professor Munyon states that they positively contain no opium, cocaine, morphine or other deadening drugs.

He claims that his Rheumatism Remedy relieves all rheumatic pains in from 3 to 5 hours, and generally cures before one bottle has been taken.

3-X RHEUMATIC CURE

Where our regular 25c. Rheumatism Remedy fails to cure, we strongly recommend our 3-X Rheumatism Cure, which has been prepared expressly for chronic and obstinate cases. This remedy should be used in every instance where the joints are stiff or swollen, or have become chalky. It is especially recommended for lame backs, sciatic pains, lumbago, swollen limbs and where there is great inflammation. It is put up in a large bottle and sells for $1.00.

I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters, and give MUNYON'S 3-X RHEUMATISM CURE a trial. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter what your druggist may say, no matter what your friends may say, no matter how prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of the 3-X RHEUMATISM CURE. He will get it for you if he has none in stock. There are 100 doses in a bottle, and as one lady says, "Every tablet is worth more than a dimond of the same size." A few doses will take away all aches and pains, and a cure generally follows before one bottle is used.

Remember, this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium, cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the guarantee of the Pure Food and Drug Act.—MUNYON.

Professor Munyon assumes all the risk. He is especially anxious for physicians to call for free samples of his Rheumatism Cure, as he wants the full truth to be known about this wonderful remedy.

A Cure for Every Disease.

POLICE UNEARTH BIG COLLECTION OF JEWELRY

Believe Loot Worth Thousands Was Taken From Department Stores.

DETAIN WOMAN; SEEK MAN

Police Inspector Shields and Sergeants Murphy, Martin and Pelton of Headquarters discovered jewelry valued at thousands of dollars which they believe to have obtained in department and other store robberies, in a room in the house No. 101 Appleton street, where they went to arrest Walter Joyce.

While watching the house from the rear the detectives saw a man, whom they say is Joyce, appear at a second story window. They hurried to the front of the house, but believe the man had seen them. When they entered he had gone. They took a woman, said to be his wife, to police headquarters. An investigation is in progress, and the police are searching for Joyce.

When the detectives entered the house they were met by the woman and they say that she took them to a room occupied by the fugitive.

"It was a miniature jewelry store," said one of the detectives. "We found watches, diamond rings, gold rings, scarfpins, pendants and pocketbooks set with gems. It is a sparkling lot of goods."

ARMED TRUCE IN BATTLE FOR ILLINOIS ROAD

By Boston American Leased Wire.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Stuyvesant Fish Jim and E. H. Harriman, both confident of victory, rested in armed truce to-day while a proxy committee struggled with the gigantic task of finding who's who in the great railroad war.

An early morning conference was held between Fish, William Nelson Cromwell and Attorney Ralph Shaw, the two latter representing Harriman. It was agreed that all proxies should be double checked—first by the proxy committee and then, in case of disagreement or uncertainty, by the stockholders themselves in their meeting.

The delay was eagerly accepted by the Fish-Gerhardus Harriman lieutenants who have rounding up doubtful proxies. Fish agents were buttonholing any and every one with a vote, and it is believed that proxies was waged with all the eagerness of a rifle warranted—a prize of the Illinois Central Railroad.

Long-Lived Linen

Linen may be more quickly ruined by inferior starching than by wear. When cracks and frayed edges appear prematurely they are due either to inferior starch or to lack of proper pliability. Make your linen long-lived by always using

DURYEAS' GLOSS STARCH

Free from all injurious substances. Gives an exquisite, subdued satiny finish of snowy brightness; extremely pliable and elastic. Produces perfect results at less cost and less work than any other.

Full-weight packages at all grocers.

BEST FOR ALL KINDS OF STARCHING—For general use, boil as directed. For light starching, use cold as a cold-water starch, requiring no boiling.

YOUNG MOTHER DIES AS SHE WHEELS BABY

WAKEFIELD, Oct. 17.—While wheeling her nine-months-old baby, almost in sight of her new home, on Forest street, Mrs. Harry E. Gerry, twenty-three years old, was stricken with heart failure and died almost instantly in the street.

Her husband, coming from the train, saw a party carrying a woman on Forest street, and went to see who it was. When he saw his young wife, dead, he was prostrated. Mrs. Gerry walked to Melrose and return and the fatigue is believed to be responsible for her death.

WILL ACT ON RECEPTION TO HON. M. J. RYAN

The Boston Central Council of the United Irish League of Massachusetts will hold an important meeting this evening at the American House, Hanover street, to take definite action on the demonstration to be held in the Hollis Street Theatre on Sunday evening, October 27, when the Hon. Michael J. Ryan, National President of the United Irish League of America, will speak on the Irish situation. President Thomas J. Dillon will preside at tonight's gathering.

Secretary John J. O'Callaghan will announce the several committees appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the reception to be tendered Mr. Ryan upon his arrival in the city. It is the intention of the Boston organization to outdo the splendid precedent set in other cities during his stay in Boston. He will be the guest of honor at one of the most opulent banquets.

Mr. Ryan is a prominent citizen of the city of Philadelphia and is now beyond middle age. He is a man above beyond. It is thoroughly conversant in the affairs of Ireland and in the heyday of the land league movement, gave much of his time to expounding it, travelling all through the South and Southwest advocating its principles.

BIRD LEFT ALL TO WIDOW.

ROCKLAND, Me., Oct. 17.—The will of Hon. Sydney M. Bird has been filed for probate, and outside of two bequests of $500 each to the M. E. Church and the Knox County General Hospital, the entire estate of $500,000 is left to the widow.

ALE EXHIBIT DRAWS CROWD

Ale, as a food, is being exhibited at the Food Fair at Mechanics Building by the P. B. Ale Company, which has a large display of its product in a booth labeled "Oh Be Jolly." The youngsters who attend the ale have made a mark of this exhibition because of the hundreds of bulldog buttons which have been given away by the company. The older visitors, too, have coveted some reproductions of great bulldogs' heads, which adorn the booth, with the result that a number of them have quietly vanished into the garments of the spectators. The ladies did not intend to give away these bulldogs.

The booth is surrounded with pictures of large heads, looking down upon the spectators and carrying out the idea of the bulldog advertising. On the sign over the booth, sixteen ounces gallons of the brown October fluid are displayed, in bottle and glass.

FIX BROWNSVILLE BLAME ON CO. B

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Blame for the shooting in Brownsville, Texas, last year, which resulted in the killing of one man, the maiming of another and dismissal from the army of three negroes of the battalion of colored soldiers, has been definitely placed upon Company B of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, according to the annual report of Brigadier-General William Crozier, chief of ordnance, made public today at the War Department.

WARD 17 MEN JOIN LEAGUERS

Aroused by what they consider a clever "carpet bagging" ruse, political organizations in Ward 17 are swinging over from the support of Frederick Michael J. Sheehan and other Democratic candidates in that ward to the nominees of the Independence League.

Charles J. Kidney and James F. Dorman, the candidates of the Independence League for the House in Ward 17, are receiving the support of every organization in the ward with the exception of the Tammany Club, an organization controlled by the Curleys.

Every voter in the district is agreed to the proposition that Ward 17 offices should go to Ward 17 men and not to residents of Ward 20.

K. OF C. TO LISTEN TO DUBLIN CHOIR

The biggest event in social affairs in Winthrop this Fall is the affair to be held in Wadsworth Hall, Winthrop Centre, this evening under the auspices of Winthrop Council, Knights of Columbus. The dominant feature of the occasion will be the presence of the Dublin Men's Association choir, which will give an entertainment entitled "A Night with Balfe." The president of the Dublin Association, Charles J. Forester, will give a talk on the traditions of the Irish people.

YOUNG ORATORS DEBATE MERGER

At the second meeting of the sixteen annual session of the Boston Young Men's Congress, one of the oldest and best known of Boston's debating forums, a debate was held on the merger. Norman C. McNamara, John Barkley and Augustus Seaver spoke against the proposed merger, which was defended by Philip P. Carney and William Conlon. The debate will be taken up at the next meeting, which will also open a discussion of the right of trial by jury in cases of labor injunctions.

"Light is the source of our being and of our well being." Light gives us life and health.

The contention of the Osmo-Chemic Scientists that disease must yield to healing only when it must when properly administered in bearing fruit in the complete restoration of health in the treatment of disease by the medical profession, who are now accepting light as a curative agent.

A COMBINATION NEVER EQUALLED

A 20% Security and a 7% 1st Mortgage Gold Bond in Our Unparalleled Combination Offering

Our Combination offering of highly profitable Dividend paying stock and interest bearing Bonds, with a market value of $450.00, which we are privileged to offer to our customers at $300.00, is the greatest profit bearing investment ever emanating from a financial house. This Combination yields nearly 11 per cent. on the market value of the securities, $450.00 or 15 2-3 per cent. on the actual investment. This Combination offering is limited to 50 Combinations of $300.00 each, and is unparalleled by any financial house in America.

Our Combination Offering Includes:

200 shares of Boston-Idaho Mining Company's stock, a 20 per cent. dividend security, on par, or 13 1-3 per cent. on the present market price, $1.50 a share.

100 shares Paymaster Consolidated Mines Company Stock, par value $1.00 a share, market value $50.00.

One $100.00 7 per cent. First Mortgage Convertible 10 year Gold Bond of the Paymaster Consolidated Mines Company, interest payable Semi-Annually, February and August, market value of these Bonds $100.00, Trustee, State Street Trust Company, Boston.

The time on this Combination offering we regret to announce is limited, as this offering is a most remarkable one. It certainly will not last long. It is the most profitable safe investment that any financial house has been privileged to offer.

Boston-Idaho Mining Company's stock at $1.50 a share, the present price, will yield a net income of 13 1-3 per cent. annually at the rate of 5 per cent. quarterly on par, commencing next month.

In our opinion Boston-Idaho Mining Company's dividends will be largely increased before the end of many months, as the mill with its present capacity of 30 tons daily is earning a surplus over the dividend obligation of the Company, and as it has been determined by the directors to increase the mill capacity early next spring to 90 tons of ore daily, which is three times its present capacity, it necessarily follows that the dividends and surplus will be three times greater than at present.

The Capitalization of the Boston-Idaho Mining Company is $200,000. There are no bonds or preferred stock to have priority. It is all common stock and the profits go to the common stockholders. The stock being offered today at $1.50 a share has a book value of over $2.00.

The Paymaster Consolidated Mines Company owns not only the Paymaster group and its extensions, consisting of seven claims, on which eight shafts have been sunk, varying from 40 feet to over 300 feet in depth. From most of these shafts ore has been shipped in the past averaging in carload lots as high as $90 to $150 per ton, amounting to $640,000. This property is equipped with a 120 H. P. boiler and a 50 H. P. hoist, besides surface equipment.

The Paymaster Consolidated Mines Company owns also the Olive, North Prosperity group with their extensions. There are three shafts on the Olivette claim from which high grade ore averaging upwards of $200 per ton was shipped to smelter.

The Paymaster Consolidated Mines Company is a going and producing company. While as yet no dividends are paid on the stock, it has a market value of 50 cents a share.

Such famous engineers as Kempton & McCoy, Percy Williams, E. M. and Douglas Gray have examined and filed most favorable reports.

As there is a time limit to this offering of the greatest combination of profit-bearing securities of the past or present year, we urge all interested in securing one or more of these Combinations to act promptly in filling their order. We reserve the right as is the custom of our office to withdraw or discontinue this offering at any time without notice.

CHAPTER IV.

ARA, her face as pale now as it had been flushed, came from the private office, after half an hour. Without noticing Silvers, who had opened the door, or her companion, the Japanese consul, she walked through the counting room directly toward me.

"Touraine," she whispered as she passed, "quick."

She continued to the door where she turned and imperatively summoned the little Japanese, still bent on accomplishing a formal leave-taking with Silvers. But he will be abandoned his hopeless project and ran sprightly to her.

As they left the counting room I watched Silvers. He stood to the half-opened door of his office, his face puckered into a half smile of shrewd meditation that told me of a partial victory.

"How are you now?" was Zara's first greeting on my reaching the hotel. Brown as a berry, dressed in a shirt waist with a wide collar and a short skirt, her black hair twisted up in some bewildering fashion at the back of her head, she looked just a healthy care-free summer girl in from the links.

"Well," I said, "I am not up to the Touraine crusher class yet."

Other people notice your bad breath where you would not notice it at all. It is nauseating to other people to stand before them and while you are talking give them a whiff or two of your bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you have it in the morning—that awful sour, bilious, bad breath. You can stop that at once by swallowing one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbent ever prepared.

Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those who talk with you. "You've had onions," or "You've been eating cabbage," and all of a sudden you belch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as every one knows. That is why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are so quick to stop all gases and odors of odorous foods or gas from indigestion.

Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides, the very fact of using them reveals the reason for their use. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges is the first place stop for good all your breath and belching of gas, and make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then no one will turn his face away from you when you breath or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it.

Charcoal does other wonderful things, too. It carries away from your stomach and intestines all the impurities there massed together and which cause the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorber.

Charcoal is now by far the best, most easy and mild laxative known. A whole boxful will do no harm. In fact, the more you take the better. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal and mixed with just a faint flavor of honey to make them palatable for you, but not too sweet. You just chew them like candy. They are absolutely harmless.

Get a new, pure, sweet breath, freshen your stomach for your next meal and keep the intestines in good working order. These two things are the secret of good health and long life. You can get all the charcoal necessary to do these wonderful but simple things by getting Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Why not your test these little wonder workers yourself before you buy them. So send us your full name and address for a free sample of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Then after you have tried the sample, and been convinced, go to your druggist and get a 25c. box of them. You'll feel better all over, more comfortable, and "cleaner" inside.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

"Then you don't understand it?" she said, sawily. "I thought you would know." She settled herself in a little heap on a divan and thought intently, while I watched her appreciatively.

I ventured to tell her of my story of the impending panic over the loss of the millions.

Side-Tracked

"Side-tracked!" she commented.

I told her of the method of disposing of the money suggested by Silvers; that of shipping it to various points under different consignments and of the capture of the one consignment at Vancouver.

"Stuff," she murmured absently, without a sir of interest throughout the whole recitation.

I then told her of the telegram from Miliken, agent of the Insurance Company for Texas, stating that Hawthorne had passed through El Paso on his way to Monterey. "He's a fool," she observed quietly.

Who?—Milliken, Silvers or—myself? I wondered.

Then I suddenly remembered the Russian looking individual who had been with Silvers when I called. He described him in detail.

She responded with a short laugh, as if the idea of the foppish individual being connected with such a serious manner taxed her sense of humor.

"Well, Zara," I said finally, after we had sat looking at each other, "I don't see that I have added you very much."

"Added me?" she exclaimed, "why, you have helped me turn the tables on them."

"I noted have been in a trance when it happened," I replied. "If don't see—"

"From the street came a that arrested my attention.

"Extra! Panic in Milk Street!"

"There's my uncle, Zara!" I cried.

She seemed much amused at my excitement.

"Enjoy it all you can!" she advised quietly. "I am."

"You don't realize what it means!" I replied.

She looked at me very demurely with those big gray eyes filled with subtle mischief.

"What have you got up your sleeve?" I demanded.

"I wish that I could tell you," she answered, "but I cannot!" She closed her lips tightly for a moment, then carefully concluded. "Only—the panic won't last long."

To Be Continued To-morrow.

AGED MAN HURT BY ROOM MATE

With his gray head swathed in bandages, dazed eighty-year-old Kenrick Gallagher appeared in South Boston District Court today and feebly told how he had been attacked by his room-mate, Stephen McAuliffe, a husky man of only thirty-eight years old.

McAuliffe, he said, had come home intoxicated and struck him in the head with a plate, cutting a deep gash. Judge Fallon sentenced McAuliffe to three months at Deer Island, from which he appealed and was held in $200 bail.

BOSTON MAN DROPS DEAD.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 17.—Edward Thomas of Boston, aged thirty-one years, dropped dead while walking down the gang plank of the steamer San Jacinto on his way from New York to San Antonio for his health. Death was due to a hemorrhage from the lungs.

DEMOCRATS SEE LOSS IN LIGHT REGISTRATION

The close of registration in Boston for the State election shows a loss of 3,106 names over last year. The total number of registered voters this year, 110,851, is the lowest since 1905. Last year there were 112,957 voters registered for the State election.

Wards 1, 14, 19, 20, 22, 23 and 24 are the only wards which show an increased voting strength and in most of these the increase is light. The poor showing this year is regarded as remarkable considering that it is a mayoralty year, and that a sheriff and district-attorney are to be elected at the State election.

The loss is ascribed by Democratic leaders to the lack of interest in the organization's campaign for Joseph A. Donnellon for district attorney and Daniel F. Coughlin for sheriff, and to resentment among the ward leaders over the distribution of patronage at City Hall. The ward leaders, they assert, have got nothing, everything going to members of the Mayor's family and close personal friends.

CROWN PRINCE TAKES FIRST RIDE IN TRAIN

SEOUL, Oct. 17.—The Emperor and Crown Prince of Korea went to Chemulpo yesterday afternoon. It was the first time the Crown Prince of Korea had ever ridden on a railroad train, and he showed a child-like interest in the proceeding. The Japanese battleship Iwate arrived from Kobe in the harbor at 2 p. m. and was greeted by the Korean Emperor and Korean Crown Prince.

FIND 5 LITTLE ONES STARVING; ARREST FATHER

Huddled together in a little South Boston apartment, without a scrap of food in the house, no bed and only one dress for the whole family, Agent Mann of the S. P. C. C. to-day found five little children of Edward Renaghan, 40, and Policeman Breen of Station 6 arrested Renaghan and charged him with non support.

The youngsters made a pitiable spectacle in court. They were ill nourished and poorly clad. They stayed in age from Catherine, who is twelve, down to Anna, three years old and two between. The Children's Society agent said that he had found them so hungry that he himself had to go out and forage for some food for them. When the father discovered that he was to be prosecuted, he got a few cheap suits for the children, but it was too late to save him.

Judge Joseph B. Fallon sentenced Renaghan to three months in the House of Correction and turned the children over to Agent Mann, to await the action. Renaghan appealed and was held in $500 bail. He is a carpenter by trade, forty-seven years old, and lives at No. 16 Dodd street.

LAWYER IS ARRESTED.

Jerome J. Pastene, a Boston lawyer, has been arrested charged with the theft of $1,000 from Rosena Pillato of Roxbury. He was locked out in the rear of 53 Court by Charles A. Pastene, also of Boston. The charge grows out of a real estate transaction.

2 AUTO SUITS FOR $10,000

Two $5,000 suits were filed to-day in the Middlesex Court at East Cambridge for injuries alleged to have been received in automobile collisions. Alva H. Warren of Everett is defendant in the action brought by Fannie E. Bump of Somerville. She charges that on June 26 the defendant's automobile crashed into carriage and caused the horse to run away. She asks $5,000 for personal injuries.

Edward H. Bull of Waltham is sued for $5,000 by Ernest Spencer, a Waltham boy. He alleges that on July 20 the defendant in his automobile ran into him as he was riding a motor cycle, badly injuring him.

HEBREW CLUB FOR DONOVAN

The Hebrew Independent Club of Ward 9 held a meeting last evening in Wells Memorial Hall for the purpose of organizing a rallying committee to aid James Donovan in his campaign for Sheriff. The hall was filled by members of the club and invited guests.

Julius Jaffe, president of the club, presided and M. Penn acted as secretary. The speakers were Abraham Alpert of East Boston, W. Rosnosky, Samuel H. Borofsky, Max Levy and Louis Gordon. A letter was read from Isaac Rosnosky, it was voted to organize a rallying committee of 100, residents of every ward in Suffolk County.

A Woman's Breeding Shows Itself at the Bargain Counters

By Frances Savage

THERE is no place in the world that a woman as clearly shows her breeding or the lack of it, as at the bargain counter.

Here the old Eve asserts herself, and unless a woman is of unusual fiber she will let little tell-tale bits of weakness appear which will take her from the class that every woman wishes to be the head of, that of "Lady."

A hackneyed word and one that is much out of fashion, the word woman being preferred for general usage, and rightly, too, for no more beautiful word can be found in the English language.

Still our mothers liked the word lady, and it does undoubtedly still stand as a definition for the word woman, as applied to the real woman.

No woman can be a real woman unless she is a lady.

The woman who conducts herself as a lady when on a shopping tour has proved her right to the title for all time, and I believe that every woman will tell you that to be called a "lady" is the highest compliment that can be paid the present day woman.

Few and Far Between

I GREATLY fear, though, that if we attempt to draw our conclusions of what a lady ought to be from the women we see every day in the department stores, we must believe that the "ladies" of the present day are few and far between.

There are three distinct types of shopping women.

There is the woman who knows what she wants and goes after it, and there is the woman who does not know what she wants and drives the clerks nearly distracted trying to discover what it is she desires and then to satisfy her with what they have; and last, but by no means least, is the woman who does not want anything at all. She is "just shopping," she will tell you, and after the clerk has taken down every piece of goods he has upon his shelves, she will say: "Oh, I don't want to buy anything. I was just looking."

Nine times out of ten this woman will leave the counter without even an thanking the clerk for all the trouble she has put him to. Why should I, time, forsooth?" she will say. "What is he there for if not to show me what he has?"

Just a "Thank You"

UNDOUBTEDLY true, but it costs nothing to give a little "thank you," and an "if you please," and it is an investment that any woman who tries it will find the returns to be far in excess of the little thought expended.

When a woman who is addicted to the "if you please" and "thank you" habit enters a store she is greeted with a smile by all the clerks.

She is the first to be waited upon and the first to get her change, while the woman who has treated the saleswoman to a haughty stare is left to languish at the end of the counter.

I have seen well-bred (for so-called well-bred) and beautifully dressed women push and elbow each other about like a lot of cattle in a cattle car.

I have seen women of this sort indulge in wordy combat over a piece of goods that they both want and they will each have hold of an end of the fabric and cannot be persuaded to give it up.

I have seen this same class of women at afternoon receptions where their manner is irreproachable, and whom you would find it difficult to believe was other than the perfect lady.

Coax, Don't Drive

WOMEN were made to coax, not to drive, and if the present day woman could only be brought to believe that she can win much more easily by this method of coaxing than she can by any amount of driving, there would be more ladies in the world and a much more cheerful and happier set of working women in our department stores.

The new and independent woman is a delusion and a snare. She never gets anywhere and is universally detested by the masculine part of humanity and shunned by her own kind.

It is to be hoped that the present day fad of mannishness women is nearly at an end and that soon we will hear no thanking the clerk for all the trouble again the real lady of our mothers' day.

Choice Is Between Less Hair or No Job

Artist Johnson's Idea of What May Happen if the Pittsburg Crusade Against the Pompadour Spreads.

THE cruel ultimatum sent forth by the heads of Pittsburg's department stores that the young women in their employ must either give up their pompadours or else give up their positions, has caused no end of concern among that element of independent American femininity which has always regarded itself as free to do as it saw fit in the matter of the arrangement of its crowning glory.

For Pittsburg has long made itself a centre of attraction for a fashion and expectant outside world, and in consequence these young women who are addicted to the tall, globular hirsute are fearful lest the crusade spread.

What to Expect

In fact, one may momentarily expect bulletins from all parts of the country announcing that Mr. So and So, of the tell department in the great store of So and So & Co., has issued an order summarily calling in the pomp and declaring a wage in plain, parted in the middle hair, surrounded by wreaths of purple or milky algerine, studded with tiny rhinestones that the newest creations might be properly shown to your bonnet.

Or perhaps Mrs. So and So might not be astonished at any moment to have the head of some big store call up her hitherto good friend and in an order such as this:

"Send us down immediately half a dozen blondes for the black goods counter. Have them with their hair matted close to their heads, and with a black jet formed in butterfly effects."

Fear the Crusade May Spread Over Country

The cause of the Pittsburg crusade is attributed to the rat, which, the employers declare, puffs out the fore part of the hirsute adornment in such a manner as to cast shadows on ribbons and delicate shades when the customers are vainly attempting to match them.

Bad on Mondays

And on Mondays many of the girls who washed their hair Sundays can't do a blessed thing with it, and instead of catering to the wants of the buyers they are continually standing before the mirrors doing acrobatic contortions with their hands in endeavoring to gather the stray fluffs.

Many of the young women in Pittsburg already have been discharged. As the suggestion comes from Pittsburg it will undoubtedly be regarded in the nature of something out of the ordinary—elements hirsutus—in all likelihood, and it is doomed to be contagious.

Should a Wife Get a Salary?

BY GRACE HYMAN

SHOULD a wife have a salary?

This question is one of vital importance in every home, and one that should be well considered and agreed upon by each woman or man who contemplates matrimony.

Most certainly the wife should have a salary, or an allowance, whichever she chooses to call it.

There are many satisfactory ways of dividing the family fortunes, but whatever the plan a certain sum, no matter how small, should be allowed to the wife as her own. No questions should be asked as to manner in which it is spent, and it should be given cheerfully and willingly by the husband or bread winner.

Many husbands turn over their whole salary to their wives, keeping out of it only enough for their daily needs.

In some families this is the best way, as the wife may be the less extravagant and able to make the income go further. Even if this is the arrangement a certain portion of this amount should be allotted to the wife and considered as her own.

Do Not Like to Ask

No wife likes to run to her husband for a dollar every time she needs it, and it is no more agreeable for the husband to be always having demands made upon him.

Many households are made miserable by constant disputes and arguments about money matters.

There is a simple way to avoid all this unpleasantness, and make the most of your worldly income and leave yourself and family free from the unnecessary jars.

When a certain mode of living is agreed upon by both people the husband should make his wife his confidant in all financial matters. They may then lay out a plan of dividing the income that is agreeable to that each may have the comforts they can afford.

It is wise to lay aside so much each month or week for evening expenses, so much for clothes for each of them, and always the most they can afford to add to the bank account after everything else has been paid out.

The wife's allowance should be considered in the running expenses and be as generous as the family needs and income warrant and her husband's income will permit.

Some wives will prefer to handle all the money for the family, making it go as far as possible and keeping what they can save for the purchase of furnishings. This is often satisfactory and most apt to lead to unpleasantness.

Take a specified sum, no matter how small it is, dear wives, and make your wives content with it; you will avoid criticism and keep both your own and your husband's self-respect.

The husband who can run with the greatest amoothness is the one in whose home is a perfect understanding about all money matters of the family. There is no reason why the husband or the parents should bear the entire responsibility in this respect, and a good mother will explain to her daughter as soon as they are old enough to understand, just what she can afford to give them and teach them to be helpful accordingly.

If this is done they will not be in a constant state of refusing demands made on them by their children, and the latter will have no need for and which in their hearts they have no idea they will really get.

Share With Husband

A good wife will share equally with her husband all the cares that their home brings, and will feel perfectly independent only for her support and she in all fairness may demand from him his confidence in the matter of the care of the family which she may call her own.

When the husband makes the mistake in accepting this of using it to make up the household deficits he keeps any real interest. This is neither fair to yourself nor your husband and will be the source of trouble in the end.

Judging life together is the secret of a happy home. Each member should feel his importance as an individual and that to achieve this a wife must be allowed some small salary so that her dependence may not become a burden and she may feel that she has something she may call her very own.

Cook Book Free For Choice Recipes

THE writer of every recipe printed below receives a copy of the BOSTON AMERICAN Economy Cook Book, a substantial indexed handbook of 219 pages, bound in heavy oilcloth, especially designed to preserve these recipe gems in permanent form.

MUSTARD PICKLES

ONE quart each large and small cucumbers, large onion, one cauliflower, four green peppers. Make a brine of four quarts water, one cup salt; pour over and let stand twenty-four hours. Then pour off brine, scald and drain. Mix three-quarters cup of flour, six tablespoons mustard, one cup tumeric powder and enough cold vinegar to make paste smooth, and enough vinegar to make two quarts. Boil until it thickens, stirring constantly. Then add pickles and heat through. These are delicious.

Stonington, Me.

CRUMBED ONIONS

BOIL some onions of uniform size and change twice to improve the flavor. Cook until tender; then put in a saucepan with a teaspoon. Mix two-thirds cup cracker crumbs with one tablespoon of butter, one teaspoon each of salt and pepper, one tablespoon sugar, one cup milk, two cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder. Roll eggs well, add butter, whip to a cream; then add sugar; whip all three together; then add milk and flour into which the baking powder should be previously mixed.

Two good-sized grated, one egg, one cup sugar, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, extract; boil five minutes.

sup. Fill each onion with crumbs and set in a pan; pour over each milk, put a bit of butter on each onion and bake until milk is absorbed. Serve hot.

MRS. A. T. HARSTOW,
No. 174 Mt. Vernon street, Malden.

SALMON SOUP

ONE-HALF can of salmon, one tablespoon butter, one quart milk, two tablespoons flour, slice of onion, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, some chopped parsley, one small spoon of pepper. APPLE CAKE

TWO eggs, one and one-half cup butter, one and one-half cup sugar, one cup milk, two cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls cream of tartar, one teaspoonful soda, one cup of water. Bake in layers.

MRS. A. SILK, Chelsea.

DARKEN LIGHT HAIR

DEAR PROFESSOR:

My hair is of a light yellow and keeps getting lighter all the time. Please tell me of something that will gradually make my hair dark again, as I would like to be a brunette.

A. J.

HENNA tea or paste will darken your hair and give it a very pretty tint. The way of applying it is described in the answer sent of your shirt waist has slipped down beneath its to your letter.

SULPHUR AND MOLASSES

DEAR PROFESSOR:

In your answer to a reader of the 18th I noticed you recommend sulphur and molasses remedy for the blood. Will you please state about what quantity should be taken?

A TRUE READER.

MIX equal quantities of sulphur and molasses. Take a tablespoonful three times a day for three days; rest three days and then take for three days more, rest three days and then take for three days more.

FILL OUT HOLLOWS

DEAR PROFESSOR:

Please send me a remedy to whiten the face and tell me if massaging the face with a cream will help fill out slight hollows in my cheeks and bring the proper roundness to the contour. Will the face brush used night and morning remove the hollows of short standing?

W. W.

USE lemon juice or buttermilk as a whitening. If you use a cream which contains no lanolin you can benefit by massaging it in. Sage and the hollows will fill out gradually. Lanolin is the best oil to use for massage, but if you have a tendency to hair on the face, do not use it alone.

BE SURE YOU USE A HAND GLASS

OTHERWISE some of these things may be true:

Your petticoat may hang just half an inch shorter on your dress skirt in the back.

Your girdle may cover the junction of waist and skirt at the top of the buckle, but the skirt band may have been pressed together in the middle.

The buttons may not be set close enough together on your blouses, revealing an unintentional decollete.

Your sleeves may have been folded over too little or too much so that the band of the cuff will be unevenly displayed.

You may have forgotten to hook the back, and a speck of dust will be visible.

Shoe Newness

ENTREMELY high-top button shoes with narrow pointed toes, are a novelty this Fall. In order to give the long narrow effect women are forced to wear shoes several sizes too large. This is a fashion that anyone should think it may be adopted by women here, it is doubted that they will ever become popular enough to have this fashionable narrowness of foot.

THE NEW BLACK SASH

A NEW note on light evening dresses is the wide sash of soft black satin. This is tied in a Japanese bow, very high in the back, and is best kept in place by means of hooks on the sash and corresponding eyes on the waist. It is called the "monsieur" sash, and its distinctiveness lies in the contrast of the soft black satin with a sheer white or pale-colored gown, as well as in the Oriental arrangement of the bow, which, of course, best suited to girls and young women.

Cameos Revived

THE immense cameo brooches which our great-grandmothers thought such important adornments are being worn in the form of buckles for belts. The woman who is fortunate enough to have in her possession some heirloom in the form of a medallion cut from shell or ivory may be looked upon with envious eyes. A novelty in belts is one fastened with a large cameo, while the lower edge of the belt is outlined with a row of tassels supported by knotted ends of the cord. Belts of silver ribbon are trimmed with rows of silver tassels at the lower edge are also very pretty.

Lace Fichu Kimono

THE lace fichu draped in kimono fashion that came out late will be seen more during the Fall, without doubt. It is of generous length, put on so that it falls well down over the shoulders and tops of the arms and is held at the waist line quite under which it passes. The ends should reach nearly to the hem of the skirt. It is one of the new fancies to dye scarfs of this order the same shade as the gown with which they are to be worn and wear them over a white lingerie or lace waist.

HOW TO BE BEAUTIFUL

"THE TURN OF THE BALANCE"

A Thrilling Story of American Life by Brand Whitlock

Copyright, 1907, by American Journal-Examiner

MARRIOTT knew none of the others; there were half a dozen men, some of them well dressed as well as Gibbs, with strange visages, marked by crime and suffering, all the more touching because they were so evidently unconscious of its effects. The heads ranged along the bench were of strange shapes, startlingly individual, and in some cases they were like to each other. They were all solemn, afraid to speak, bearing themselves self-consciously, like children suddenly set out before the public.

On one bench sat a young girl, and something unspeakable in her face, in her mouth, in the clothes she wore—she had plainly dressed all the better for the hadtold what she was. Her toilet, on which she had spent much ceremony, had produced the very effect the womanhood left to her had striven to avoid.

Common Humanity

Marriott smiled, until he detected the deep concern which Gibbs was trying to hide; then his heart was touched, as the toilet of the girl had touched it.

Marriott knew that these people were the witnesses by whom Gibbs expected to establish an alibi for Hilliard and Sqenk and Mandell; the sight of them did not reassure him; he had made up his mind during conviction of the utter lack of weight and credibility of the people in the courtroom; he did not credit them himself, and he began to feel a shame for offering such testimony.

He was half decided, indeed, not to put the witnesses on, but the great concern came with the thought of Mason, whom he believed to be hungering for his blood, and he wondered, was the reporter Wales? But just at that moment the doors at the doors of the courtroom swung inward and suddenly all the people in the courtroom—Dalrymple, Fallen, Wilkinson, Marriott, Gibbs, the clerks and the reporters, the bailiff and the group Gibbs had brought up with him from the under world—forgot the distinctions and prejudices and hatreds that separated them, forgot the differences of their common humanity and became as one in eager curiosity which concentrated all their interest on the entering prisoners.

They came in a row, chained together by handcuffs, and were closely guarded. They were marched within the bar, still wearing the hats they could not remove.

The United States marshal himself and another deputy came forward and joined the deputies in charge of the prisoners. The officers took off the hats of the men and when they took chairs at the table, Marriott could see inside them. It gave the impression that the prisoners were most distinguished personages, and he wondered that they themselves were officials with the highest regard for their dignity.

Wilkinson, with great deliberation, was seating himself at the clerk's desk. Ordinarily he held hearings in an anteroom, but as this hearing would be reported in the newspapers he felt justified in using the courtroom; besides, he could then test some of the sensations of a judge.

"Aren't you going to unhandcuff these men?" said Marriott to the marshal.

The marshal merely smiled in a superior official way, and the smile completed the rage that had seized on Marriott when the commissioner and the rest did their whole duty. He sat there with the two rest rocking from heel to toe, his face purple and red, his blue eyes gloating.

Marriott restrained himself by an effort; he needed all his faculties now.

Court Is Called

"The case of the United States versus Julius Dalrymple," Wilkinson was officially fingering the papers on his desk, "the defendants ready for hearing?"

"We're ready, yes," said Marriott, plainly resenting from his position at the table the tone of the respect for the court ordinarily assumed. "Mr. Dalrymple is present with me," and Dillon and the rest followed with every gesture of respect and deference to every word. They forgot the handcuffs and fastened their eyes on Wilson standing up to be sworn. When the oath had been administered, Dalrymple put the stereotyped preliminary questions and then asked him who the defendants were. Wilkinson replied with the name of another and pronounced their names as he did so. When he had done the Dalrymple turned, looked at Marriott with his chin in the air, and said, properly:

"Take the witness."

Marriott was surprised and puzzled; the suspicions that he had all along held were revealed.

"How many witnesses will you have?" he asked.

"This is all," said Dalrymple with an impertinence that was not lost upon the court; "the defendants ready for hearing."

FARMERS' CHIEF FACES MORAN'S MILK PROBE

STANLEY H. ABBOT APPEARS AS FIRST WITNESS BEFORE GRAND JURY.

Stanley H. Abbot of Wilton, N. H., was the first witness called to-day by the Grand Jury in its investigation under the direction of District Attorney Moran, of the Boston Milk Trust's alleged combination in restraint of trade to rais the price of milk to consumers.

Mr. Abbot is president and a director of the Boston Co-operative Milk Producers' Association. He entered the jury room at 10h15 and was there until noon.

The examination of witnesses was conducted by Assistant District Attorney M. J. Dwyer. The case will continue through to-day and may occupy part of to-morrow's sitting.

Among the witnesses still to be heard are: Walter A. Hunter, of Worcester, secretary of the association; John K. Mills, of Northboro, a director; Jonas Reals, a leading member; Ian Worcester County Milk Producers' Union; Fremont Whitten, general express agent of the New Haven road; H. C. Rhodd, assistant general freight agent of the Boston & Albany, and several newspaper men.

NEW AUTO RECORD.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Anty Drudge Gossips.

Mrs. Gossiper—"Yes, it's said they will be divorced. And after the way she's slaved for him, wearing out her life washing, and cooking, and cleaning. They say he's stuck on that pert Miss Sinamon, who looks as if she never did a stroke of work in her life."

Anty Drudge—"Oh, but she does work! She does as much washing and cleaning as Mrs. Neverrest, but she does it with Fels-Naptha, and doesn't wear herself out. If Mrs. Neverrest had used Fels-Naptha in her washing and cleaning, she would still be as pretty and fresh as ever, and wouldn't have lost her husband's love."

Does housecleaning mean to you a blistering fire in the kitchen and half-scalded hands? Why not try the modern way—the Fels-Naptha way?

Fels-Naptha soap, in cold or lukewarm water, will make your house spick and span. It will dissolve the smoke, grease and dirt on your windows without scouring—polishing them at the same time.

It will brighten paint or varnish on woodwork; freshen up the colors in oilcloth or linoleum; whiten natural wood floors. It is the ideal soap to clean rugs or curtains, as it removes grease spots and dirt of all kinds without harming the colors.

Fels-Naptha will do your housecleaning better in cold or lukewarm water than any other soap will in hot water. You avoid the necessity for a hot fire, and your hands don't become red and rough from constantly dipping them in hot water.

Then Fels-Naptha is a disinfectant and insecticide. Neither germs nor insects will infest a place where the cleaning is regularly done with Fels-Naptha.

Follow the easy directions on the red and green wrapper.

BACHELORS FORM "MUST MARRY" CLUB

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 17.—Members of the Emmett Social Club have organized the quaintest Bachelors' Club. Every two months the bachelors will be lined up, lots will be cast, and the one who draws the fateful number will be coerced to marry within the year.

If at the end of the twelve-month he has not succeeded in coaxing a "yes" from a blushing sweetheart he will be banished from the club rooms.

BOY'S JOKE CAUSED EXCITING RUNAWAY

WESTBROOK, Me., Oct. 17.—A small boy and pea shooter caused a mad run away that came near resulting fatally. A big black horse, owned and driven by Joshua Whipple, a produce dealer of Gray, was struck in the eye by a pea which the boy, and dashing half a mile through the main street, finally dashed the wagon against a telegraph pole and threw out Mr. Whipple, inflicting injuries him.

110,881 CAN VOTE AT THE STATE ELECTION

Registration for the State election was concluded in Boston last night, the total of the twenty-five wards being 110,881, against 112,077 a year ago. The police say spring listed 100,747, showing names were dropped from the last year's total. The supplementary registration this year added 10,134. In Cambridge the registrars placed 1,049 names on the list. This is approximately 100 less than last year just before the State election.

SAYS SON DESTROYED HIS MOTHER'S WILL

TAUNTON, Oct. 17.—In a petition filed in the Probate Court yesterday afternoon it is alleged that George H. Staples of this city destroyed his mother's will a short time before she died, and while she was mentally weak. A copy of the will is filed.

The will gives a life interest in the estate to the son, and upon his death it is to be divided among Charles Austin of Rochester, Judge Frederick E. Austin and Mrs. Susie Godfrey of Taunton.

WHOLE WORLD OF SPORTS COVERED FOR THE BOSTON AMERICAN BY ITS CORPS OF EXPERTS

HARVARD VARSITY ELEVEN LEAVES TO-DAY FOR GAME WITH MIDDIES SATURDAY

In shape for a hard game with the Middies at Annapolis Saturday, the Harvard football team will leave the Hub at 8:04 to-night for Baltimore.

Coachers Crane, Cutts and Leary will accompany the squad.

The party leaves Harvard square at 7:15 to-night by special cars for the Back Bay station to catch the Federal express at 8:04. They are scheduled to arrive in Baltimore at 8:41 Friday morning. While in Baltimore they will stop at the Hotel Belvidere.

The Baltimore Country Club has invited the team to dine with them Friday noon. Saturday morning at 10:15 they leave for Annapolis and lunch at the navy mess. The game starts at 2:30.

The party will include Apollonio, Bird, Burr, Brown, Butt, Cutting, Forster, Fish, Gilmore, Grant, Gray, Gilbert, Hoar, Housdonald, Newhall, Nourse, Parker, Peirce (M. and W.), Rand, Robinson, Starr and Waterbury, Dr. Nichols, "Pooch" Donovan, Managers Dutcher and Eggleston and two rubbers will also accompany the squad.

The last practice in the Stadium was not up to the standard, and although the varsity won, 9 to 0, in a fifteen-minute scrimmage with the freshmen, the work was a disappointment to the coaches.

The offence was weak and the defence was worse. The linemen played like a lot of children, and if all their offside work and violations of the rules had been noticed by the officials there would have been nothing but penalties.

MIDDIES SHOW UP POORLY IN GAME WITH ST. JOHN

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—Harvard will have an easy time with the Middies Saturday unless the Naval Academy team does better work than it did to-day against the light St. John's team. The score was 12 to 0 to-day, the midshipmen scoring but one touchdown in each fifteen-minute half, and put up one of the most miserable exhibitions of fumbling ever seen here.

The only excuse made is that to-day's team was largely a substitute aggregation. Still some of the old men were offenders, including the usually reliable Lange, who is doing so well at quarterback this season. In most cases it is thought that the regular players will be in condition to start the game at least on Saturday. Both Captain Douglass and the fast end, Dague, two of the best men on the team, were kept out by the coaches to-day, as they are not in prime condition, and it was thought better not to risk them. Magruder, left tackle; Jones, fullback; Meyer, guard, and Slingluff, center, were other men who were not in the lineup, and not one of them is sure of being fit for the big game on Saturday.

However, the coaches will go to work to-day, when the whole afternoon is given to practice, with a determination to get in better shape for the first game ever played with Harvard.

APOLLONIO, ONE OF HARVARD'S STAR BACKS

The clever gridiron expert is back in the game again and will likely be in the lineup against the Middies at Annapolis on Saturday.

HUGHEY M'CANN IN FORM.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—Hughey McCann gained the popular verdict in the bout with Young Crosta at the Wayne A. C. McCann had the better of each of the first four rounds, and in the second he had a knockdown. In the fifth Crosta came back strong, and in the sixth he sent McCann to his knees.

WORLD'S RECORD MADE BY CHASE AND MACK MACK AT CHARLES RIVER SPEEDWAY

A world's speedway record was made on the Charles River speedway, with three heats by trotters in 1:00¼, 1:00¼, 1:00½. Chase, 2:07¼, owned by President C. H. Belledeu of the Metropolitan Driving Club, captured the opening heat, while Mack Mack, 2:08, the property of George A. Graves, won the two last heats and the race.

Both trotters were driven by their owners, and the time made was faster than ever made over a speedway for three heats, beating even the record held by the New York speedway.

It was a red-hot battle in the first couple of heats, while Mack Mack had it easier in the final trip.

At the conclusion of the event Belleden made the statement that he would be on hand in the next matinees in the Fall series ready to tackle Mack Mack with his trotter, and had hopes that the race had got him in better condition to carry the great rate of speed a longer distance, as he is certain that Chase has more than has Mack Mack.

Rare Sport Promised.

This means that the devotees of speedway sport will see some rare contests in the next two matinees, as it is sure Graves will leave no stone uncovered in retaining the laurels he earned by his initial victory.

It is conceded that Mack Mack was in the best possible shape for the race, as he has been in active training all the season in Ed. Bither's stable at Readville, besides taking part in the matinees there, the intercity matinee at Cleveland, and professional racing this Fall over mile and half-mile tracks.

On the other hand a little leeway has to be given Chase, and it is greatly to his credit that he accomplished what he did. In the Spring he was sent to Henry Titer at Readville, but shortly after he became lame and had to be retired from active work. In this way his fast work has been confined strictly to the matinees this Fall at the speedway. The race, therefore, should make him a better trotter for other meetings with his opponent.

The single-heat record for Charles River speedway was lowered, too, for either pacers and trotters, as the previous mark was held by Chief Wilkie, 2:12¾, at 1:00½, and was made last year.

Four Split Heat Races.

There were twelve races decided, and of the number only four were of split-heats. In the opening heat between Lady Klondyke, Louise Taylor and Peruna, the former barely gained the verdict, but in the two following Lady Klondyke was unsteady, Louise Taylor winning the blue ribbon.

Brown Bess secured her event after dropping the first heat to Elmwood by outlasting the chestnut in the final eighth of the distance. Holman had all he could attend to in defeating Applause, and the time was 1:04, 1:05. Billy Wilkes had to step in 1:05½, 1:04½, to dispose of Powder and Outcast.

Fred H. Bellows paraded a sure-enough pacer in Ashland Bett, winning over Billy Mack in 1:01¾, 1:05, and looked like she might have gone faster had she needed. Al Rai had no bother in beating Edith J. in 1:02¾, 1:06. Alondra took three heats to win over Leona, losing the opening heat. Time—1:06, 1:07¾, 1:06. Other winners were Belle Gold, Bellebrino, Gloria Rex and Binjolia.

The racing string of West Furbush arrived to-day from Albany, including Phoebon W., Red Pepper, Montana Girl and Sir George. They are to be entered in the next matinee of the Mets. Phoebon W. has been very successful this season, taking six firsts and one second and a third in eight races. He will be raced over the ice in Canada next Winter.

BOSTON AUTO SHOW WILL BE HELD MARCH 7 TO 14

BY J. C. KERRISON.

Chester Campbell, manager of the Boston Automobile Show is now in the midst of preparations for the exhibit which will be held in Mechanics Hall March 7 to 14 next. For years the Boston show has been the largest and most complete of its kind ever held, the time for holding the same making it possible for almost every dealer and maker to get his model in shape for this, the annual closing event of the show season. Although the shows of other cities have been pushed forward this year, the Boston men have remained satisfied with their usual date in March, feeling that in doing so they are catering to the best interests of the retail shows. The Boston exhibit is perhaps the best retail exposition of the year, it being conceded by the manufacturers of this country that more actual retail business is transacted here during that week than is the case with any other show during the season. The New York exhibits are in the main what might be termed wholesale shows, every effort then being made to secure agencies throughout the country, and but little effort being made to dispose of cars at retail.

That the manufacturers and agents, as well as the general public, are anxious for a road race of some kind, irrespective of whether the Long Island Motor Parkway is finished next year or not, was full proved at an impromptu meeting which was held at the Hotel Astor in New York.

The affair was engineered by the indefatigable T. Francis Moore, who failed in his well meant attempt to bring about a road race on Long Island this Fall.

"T. Francis," who has evidently profited by his experience in the Vanderbilt bailiwick (Nassau County), has transfered the field of his aspirations to another portion of the State, and announced that he had an option on four good courses, all within easy hailing distance of New York.

Robert Lee Morrell, who, by the way, was the best chairman of the Racing Board the A. A. A. ever had, presided at the meeting, which in itself was a guarantee that something might yet be done to raise our automobile racing out of the Slough of Despond it has descended to in incompetent hands.

Dealers Want Race.

Mr. Morrell, after first stating that he would like to know if the dealers and manufacturers wanted a race before going any further with the project, was assured that they did. He then diplomatically stated that he wanted it distinctly understood that, while he was strongly in favor of a race in the Spring, he was not in favor of the inauguration of any movement to form or organize a body in opposition to any existing organization, and that he would like the help and co-operation of the A. A. A.

After a long and informal talk it was decided "that it was the sense of the meeting that a race be held in the Spring of cars other than racing machines."

Representatives of a large number of foreign and American cars were present at the meeting and, if the project is not killed by the partisans of the Long Island Motor Parkway, there is every likelihood that a race of some sort will be held next May.

FEWER TICKETS FOR YALE GAME IN STADIUM

Outsiders will have a small chance getting seats for the Harvard-Yale football game in the Stadium on November 23.

The Harvard Corporation has decided to forbid the building of the large wooden stand that is generally erected at the east end of the Stadium for the Yale game. This means that the sale of tickets for the game will be limited entirely to Harvard students and graduates. Yale will have her portion of the seats to allot as she chooses. Small wooden stands will be built behind the goal posts and the usual seats will be put up on the cinder track. On the top of the Stadium the number of seats that are generally erected will be greatly reduced.

This will limit the tickets to about 33,000, ten thousand fewer than usual.

ROGERS LOSES TO MANUEL.

The eighth game of the three-cushion carom tournament at the Hub billiard palace for the championship of New England, between Harry Manuel and Pete Rogers was won by the former, 50 to 47.

JERRY GAINES NO MATCH FOR BLACK FITZ

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 17.—In one of the fiercest twelve-round bouts ever seen here Black Fitzsimmons got decision over Jerry Gaines. The "Market Champ" was sent to the floor repeatedly, and had "Fitz" not broken his wrist in the eleventh he would have put his man out.

More exciting that he fight itself was a riot started over in Fitzsimmons's corner by the negro fighter. The entire crowd was in sympathy with Gaines, and hooted the negro whenever he missed a punch. Five men seated in the negro's corner were particularly abusive in their language, and at last Fitz could stand their talk no longer.

After the ninth he leaned over and smashed one of his tormentors in the face. Two of the others reached up and they also received punches. The club officials and a crowd of spectators rushed to the corner and but for the police serious trouble would have ensued.

The riot was calmed down, and the fight continued. Referee John A. Sullivan of Magnolia had no trouble in giving the bout to the negro.

WILL BUY OUTSIDE STOCK AT READVILLE TRACK

Special to the Boston American.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 17.—An effort will be made to purchase the stock in the Readville race track, near Boston, held by the stockholders scattered throughout New England, by five of the board of directors of the New England Breeders' Association.

It is counted by these men that as the stock in the track is now practically worthless the outside blocks can be gathered in at their own price, likely for about what the land alone is worth for building lots.

However, it is not the wish of the five mentioned to cut up the property for that purpose, but after gaining the deed in their own names, to start matters under a different scale than has been the case in past years.

First on the docket will be a big annual fair, one that will develope into the greatest held in the East, and, too, will be held each year the Grand Circuit meeting. It is not certain that the race meet and fair will be combined; in fact, it is more probable that the two will be held in different months.

It has leaked that these five directors now visiting the race meeting here, and Secretary C. M. Jewett held a meeting in this city a few days ago, when the plans as outlined were decided upon.

SWEET MARIE MADE RECORD

ALLENTOWN, Oct. 17.—In her match race with Major Delmar, Sweet Marie won in straight heats and trotted the second heat in 2:08, a record for a half mile track.

The other record was made by George G., this season's unbeaten trotter, which paced by a runner, broke the world's half mile track record for an exhibition mile. His time was 2:06¾. The former record was 2:07, made by Sweet Marie on the Allentown track September 20 last.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

O. S. D., I. S. S. Missouri—Tannehill pitched for the New York Americans before he came to Boston. He was secured from New York in exchange for "Long Tom" Hughes.

J. D. K., South Boston—Frankie Neil was born July 25, 1883, in San Francisco.

F. F., Fitchburg—Jack Dempsey died at Portland, Ore., November 1, 1895.

OLD GROUNDS FOR YANKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Frank Farrell, owner of the Highlanders, says there is no truth in the report that his team will use Polo Grounds jointly with the Giants next year.

"That stuff is all junk," said President Farrell. "You can say for me that the New York Giants will never play on the Hilltop grounds and that the Highlanders will never want to play on the Polo Grounds."

PILGRIMS AT LITTLE ROCK

The Boston Pilgrims will train next year at Little Rock, Ark., again.

M. J. Finn of Little Rock, manager of the baseball club of that city, has closed a deal with President John I. Taylor.

The Boston club will remain at the training quarters for about three weeks and the Detroit club will follow for two weeks. Most of the Tigers will take a boiling out at Hot Springs before settling down to field work at Little Rock.

LIL' ARTIE TO MEET FLYNN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—The heavyweight pugilists, Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn, have signed articles for a forty-five-round glove contest to be held in Coffroth's arena on November 2. They are to receive half of the gross receipts, 55 per cent. to the winner and 45 per cent. to the loser.

OLD ORIOLES ARE BEATEN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17.—Before 12,000 fans the Baltimore pennent winners of '94, '95 and '96 were beaten by the present Orioles of the Eastern League 8 to 5. Here's how the veterans lined up: Keeler, r.f.; Gleason, s.s.; J. Kelley, l.f.; Doyle, 2b.; Brodie, c. f.; Reitz, 3b.; Robinson, c.; Clark, 1b.; Hoffer, p.

Notes of the Boxers.

William H. Lewis, late of the District Attorney's office, was one of the first to congratulate Sam Langford after his battle with Jim Barry over at Chelsea the other night.

"Tommy Murphy is the most unfortunate fighter I know," said Jim Buckley, manager of Jim Barry. "On several occasions he has been stricken with malaria just on the eve of a match which would have meant a big pile for him."

Sandy Ferguson and Jim Barry would make a great match, was the comment of a local fight fan after seeing Barry mix it with Langford.

"I wish I could have made that match with Langford and Barry over in New York," said Jim Buckley, manager of Barry. "Could have got $25 apiece from Wall street brokers to witness a fifteen-round fight, and made up a house of four or five thousand dollars."

Johnny Carroll of New York is training at Billy Bath's Nottingham quarters for his match with Tom Sawyer at Gloucester on October 28.

Young Donahue and Rouse O'Brien are the two boys Hub fans want to see next in the ring. Which club will get the match?

Benny Tickle and Monks the Newsboy will probably meet in their second battle at the Rhode Island A. C., at Thornton, as Manager Mooney is contemplating the match.

A match has been clinched between Kid Beebe and Eddie Kelly, the Buffalo newsboy pugilist. These men have been matched to meet in a fifteen-round battle at Rochester on October 30. They will battle at 125 pounds, weigh in at 6 P. M. This go will probably be a fast one, as both lads fight fast and furious.

Sailor Burke and Pat O'Keefe, the Irish middleweight champion in the stable of Charley Harvey, were matched to box six or ten rounds as soon as a club comes to the front with a suitable offer. The articles call for the men to box at catch-weights. Burke offering to make weight for the Irishman.

Articles were signed by Johnny Summers, the English lightweight, and Bert Keyes, of New York, to fight twenty rounds before the Edgewood A. C., of New Haven, on November 1. Joe Humphreys acted for Frank Cowle, manager of the club, in arranging the bout.

Fred Landers, the Frisco lightweight, will stick in the East and continue boxing as long as there are matches in sight. Al Kaufman and Billy Delaney will leave for Denver where Kaufman will likely meet Jack (Twin) Sullivan. They received a wire from there in regard to the match, and the final arrangements will be made on the arrival in Denver. Landers has been matched to meet Young Donahue, of Boston, in a six-round go at the Industrial Athletic Club of Philadelphia, a week from next Friday night.

The avenues and boulevards of New York city have been enlivened for the past few days by a big new touring car occupied by Joe Gans, the owner thereof, who is taking lessons in the gentle art of chooffing. Joe bought the car, a fifty-horse power Matheson, for $5865 cash, paying for the same out of a roll of bills that would stick in a stovepipe. The car has a clock, speedometer, luggage carrier, and all the fancy fixings. On the panel of the door, in small letters, is inscribed "Joe Gans, Goldfield Hotel." This is the name of Joe's hostelry, now building in Baltimore, from which he expects to make his living in the future.

The latest from the West is that Tommy Burns is to take George Memsic across the pond with him. Tommy thinks because Gans handed out a little will soon be now has the lightweight crown on Memsic's head. Tommy can think so, who cares, but does the public think so?

Burns declares if he ever comes to terms with Johnson he will demand an eighteen-foot ring, as he feels that with a twenty or twenty-four foot ring Johnson would resort to runaway tactics that will and only rob the fight of interest, but will also cause him to get leg-weary and footsore chasing him. "A ten-foot ring will suit me. You can't make it too small when I fight Johnson," so says Tommy.

Notes of the Diamond

The petition of the Pacific Coast League asking the commission to stop major league players from playing with the California State League between seasons was granted. For some time past it has been the custom for major league men to go to the coast to play with the State league after the expiration of their contracts in the East. This worked a hardship with the Coast league and now after no national agreement player will be allowed to play in the California State League between seasons.

In sheer desperation the Tigers tried to introduce a pneumatic ball into the game Saturday. Eddie Siever, who was in citizen's clothes, essayed to turn the trick. He got out through the gate with a rubber ball in his pocket all right, but when he threw the ball over the stand the suspicions of the Chicago gate tender were aroused and he rushed in and told Umpire Sheridan about it. Jack picked up the ball, looked it over and then tossed it to the Chicago bench, with instructions to hold it there.

"Eyah" heads the baseball slang in America. Nobody knows where it comes exactly, but they are using it. In answer to many queries, Hughie Jennings, the man who coined the expression, has explained just what it is all about. "Transformed from the Jennings-ese, 'Eyah' would be, 'That's the way.' The Tiger leader tells how he came to using it. "I used to say, 'That's the way!' and I found that it was too dull and tiresome. I wanted something with snap and go to it. So I changed it to 'That's the way—ah!' From this I came down to just 'the way—ah.' Finally I found myself yelling 'Eyah.'"

... comes to proclaiming it, Garry Herrmann is the whole works in his village. The genial Garry has so many offices that he carries around a secretary to keep track of them. Officially he interviews he is president of the National Baseball Commission, Cincinnati Baseball Club, Cincinnati Water Works Commission and the Bowling Congress.

... leaves for West Virginia in a few days to stay for several weeks in the mountains at ... recuperating from the hard campaign. ... up the wilds he will start his study of ... to use on the coaching lines next year. ... joke. He is serious about it. Spanish dogs it to be hailed at the lowest athletic feat.

The Chicago Cubs won sixteen of the twenty-two games played with the New York Giants the last season. And to think that only a few seasons ago the Cubs were such easy picking for the champion Giants!

Jesse (Buck) Freeman, formerly with Boston, has led all the hitters with Minneapolis the past season. He also led the American Association in doubles, having forty to his credit.

Stan Robison is the modest guy. He doesn't claim his Cardinals will win the pennant in 1908. He just says they will finish better than this year. Nothing could be more conservative.

Had the Philadelphia Nationals played the game throughout the season that they played the last two weeks Billy Murray would have been hailed—but what's the use?

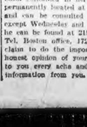
Go Back To Nature

Now Tried Today Throughout the Medical World.

Prominent Part in Sane Practice Taken by Boston Physician.

On every hand to-day the cry is, go back to nature and give nature a chance! For many years the health and happiness of many people have been endangered, if not actually lost, by the administration of drugs and chemicals. Less medicine is being taken every day, and the thinking men in the world are beginning to recognize the words of St. John in Rev. 12, 2: "The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nation." No one will deny that the vegetable and botanic kingdoms are the true sources from which medicine should be derived.



Dr. J. H. Liverpool, the subject of this article, was born of a Cherokee mother and a Spanish father. His father was chief medicine man of the Santa Fe for over fifty years; his mother was educated by the missionaries. After learning all that he could from his father and the various tribes of Indians, he came to Boston and studied medicine as practiced by the white races.

For thirty years he has dispensed the healing balm contained in herbs, roots and barks. He is permanently located at 589 Tremont street, Boston, and can be consulted there Free by all any day, except Wednesday and Thursday, and on those days he can be found at 219 Essex street, Salem, Mass. Tel. Boston office, 1725-1 Tremont. He does not claim to do the impossible, but will give you an honest opinion of your case and describe minutely to you every ache and pain without any previous information from you.

BOXBURY STORAGE SALESROOMS
WHERE PIANOS ARE SACRIFICED

Fighting the Piano Trust

The name "Piano Trust" sounds big, looks powerful and frightens a good many small piano dealers. Then, shucks, dare to cut the prices on a "Piano Trust" instrument. We have been cutting their prices for months—cutting, slashing—and actually knightening their knees, while we have been whipping the Big Piano Trust representatives in every U. S. land. We confess that we are making no money doing it, but we are still in the ring and have driven that make of piano-trust piano to the wall. Read what we say about this fake piano trust and what the big Piano Trust says about us.

A Piano Sale here is always a surprise, always a bargain sale, always a mark-down sale. The very nature of the business, as the public knows, is one of sacrifice. The business is not conducted like the business of a regular Piano store down town, where they are expected to make a profit on each piano—often they get their profit DIRECTLY out of the sale of pianos. We don't let any piano leaf around on the floor of the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms to become DUSTY TIME, a Sacrifice tag is clapped on to it, be it high grade, low grade or middle grade, and it has to suffer in the first degree or we don't earn it for the price marked on the tag—that is our motto. Read the following list of pianos in the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms on a regular Piano store down town, where they are expected to make a profit, so each piano—often they get their profit DIRECTLY out of the sale of pianos. We don't let any piano leaf around on the floor of the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms to become DUSTY

The Hen That Turns Her Eggs Over

She Teaches Us That We Really KNOW Very Little About Nature

Of the animals of which we see the most we usually credit the hen with the least intelligence. When she strays on a car track, the approach of a trolley inspires her to talk very loudly, and to run frantically STRAIGHT AHEAD instead of wisely stepping to one side.

A dog or a horse would consider his chances of running faster than the car to be very bad, and get out of the way. The hen does not consider anything at all, but flies in blind panic, and only a merciful motorman can save her life.

Yet this same stupid, unreasoning hen taught MEN, who believe themselves the only creatures gifted with reason, a lesson in physiology which had to be learned before artificial incubation was possible.

When incubators were first thought of, it was believed that HEAT alone was required to hatch out the little chicks.

This, the ingenious inventor reasoned, could be supplied by kerosene better than by the hen, which could thereafter devote all her time and attention to the laying of eggs, while a man-made machine would attend to the hatching.

So the incubators were built and the eggs installed in it. The heat was applied—in the exact degree a thermometer had determined was furnished by the hen—and the eggs didn't hatch.

Setting after setting was tried with the same result.

Then a shrewd farmer, who had observed hens at their work, told the inventor that the hens always TURNED THE EGGS OVER once every day.

The incubator man scoffed at this information. He said, of course, the hen turned the eggs over, she had to do so to insure their uniform heating, but the incubator heated them uniformly without turning them over, thus being more efficient than the hen.

But when still more eggs were tried in the incubator, and spoiled, the plan of turning them over was at last adopted. AND THE EGGS HATCHED.

Then it was that science began investigating incubation, and discovered that the benefit of turning the eggs over was NOT uniformity in heating, but the prevention of a rush of the newly made blood to one part of the budding chick—a rush which would have burst the new and delicate membranes, and cut short the young fowl's career at a pathetically early stage.

After that science had more respect for the hen, although her knowledge is still attributed to instinct.

This story is not told for the purpose of proving that a hen knows more of physiology than man, but to show that this INSTINCT, implanted by the Creator in what we call "the lower animals," is so wonderful a thing that repeating remarkable animal stories should not lightly be branded as knavish and misleading "nature faking."

This task daily performed by the hen of turning each egg over carefully HALF WAY, not turning any egg clear around, never twice turning an egg or missing one of the setting, is fully as wonderful as a bird's mending of its own broken leg, lately denounced as a pure "fake" by the greatest of self-constituted authorities on natural history.

Because man is endowed with a higher mind than animals he is likely to assume that he is the ONLY creature endowed with ANY MIND AT ALL.

The beaver's building of his dam, the spider's astounding engineering feats with webs, the social governments of ants and bees, and the caterpillar's marvelous cocoon construction he attributes to pure instinct.

And yet, considering what man KNOWS of the world he is living in, and what HE HAS YET TO LEARN, he is hardly justified in placing himself at such a vast distance beyond the four-footed and winged creatures he graciously permits to share the world with him.

Of the miracles of nature we as yet know nothing.

How a tree eighty or a hundred feet high can pump sap to the tip of its highest twig is a thing we cannot guess. Why the green leaves of Summer time turn now to red and yellow and brown we have no idea. Why the same soil that nourishes the nutritious corn can support the poisonous toadstool, the poppy, or the deadly nightshade, we have not so much as a suspicion. And although a careful horticulturist like Luther Burbank can grow pears and apples on the same tree, he could not tell you by what magic one fruit is of one shape, color and flavor and the second of quite another.

The naturalist who is studying the habits of canebrake bears—by killing them—can no more explain these miracles than can the farmer boy who marvels at them, or the Metropolitan policeman who kicks the brilliantly dyed Autumn leaves out of his path.

And until a man really KNOWS how the wonders of nature are brought about, what impulse prompts a hen each day to use her bill for a crowbar and pry her eggs over, or how the spider knows how to spin and hang his web with such mathematical accuracy, we cannot but criticise his presumption in asserting that all nature incidents that have not been observed by himself or his friends are mere fakes, told only with the sinister purpose of deceiving school children.

Missing—The Democratic Party

By Merton Field

A WARRANT has been issued for the arrest of the kidnappers who were last seen in the company of the Democratic party.

All the outgoing steamships are being watched by keen-eyed sleuths to prevent the escape of the miscreants.

This advertisement will appear shortly in all the dailies of the civilized and uncivilized globe:

A HANDSOME REWARD

Is hereby offered for the return of the Democratic party, dead or alive. Suitable rewards will be given for the return of any fragments of same. It was last seen in or near Springfield wearing a Wall Street collar.

BARTLETT & WHITNEY.

Great excitement prevails, as nobody had noticed that the party was missing until a box of crepe was observed at the headquarters of the party, where hourly bulletins are posted of the progress made by the posse and bloodhounds.

Admiral Whitney of the good ship Lobby-ahoy was asked to make a statement:

"We have engaged a fleet of dredgers and mudscows. Every inch of Boston harbor will be searched," the admiral spoke with determination.

General Bartlett, in the Court Theatre battle, said: "Do not bother me. I know nothing of any such party. See Lodge. He owns a party line."

Senator Lodge was found on his Nahant piazza, playing his favorite game, "Party, party, who's got the party."

The reporter broke the news to him. The Senator stuffed a handkerchief into his mouth and ran into the house. Loud ha-has issued from within, but the dazed reporter could not tell whether the Senator was laughing or hysterical.

Orders have been given to the State Police to search every suspicious looking freight car on the New Haven road.

A horrible rumor is abroad that the Democratic party is not lost at all, but is merely on its way to Springfield on the B. & A.

Bright-Eyes has been engaged by the State Committee to go into a daily trance and get into communication with the spirit of the party.

Secretary Loeb officially denies that President Roosevelt went down to hunt for the party in the Louisiana canebrakes and will shoot it on sight. "Nature fake," he grunted. "How can a sportsman shoot a dead one?"

WHITNEY HAS BEAUTIFUL DREAM!

Sees roseate vision of supreme power! Talks in his sleep! Heard to say, "World is mine!" "I will name judges and commissioners!" and other incoherent remarks! Loud snoring annoys neighbors!

Ella Wheeler Wilcox

This Mother, Who Left Her Child to Go With an "Affinity," Seems Too Selfish to Be Forgiven

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1907, by American-Journal-Examiner

A FOOLISH woman ran away from her husband with a foolish man, who left a wife behind.

The husband of the eloping woman and the wife of the eloping man are both ready to forgive the recreant partners and "begin business at the old stand," if they will return, and "no questions will be asked."

The editor of this paper wants me to discuss the topic. He asks, "Is not this man more admirable than the other extreme, viz., the man who not only demands faithfulness from his wife while he lives, but by his will forbids her to marry under pain of poverty after his death?" Perhaps so. It depends.

To be sure, women have always been expected to forgive erring husbands, and nobody has thought much about it. It was a part of woman's karma.

Women Forgive

IF would not seem that a man entitled himself to a crown of glory by doing what ten thousand women have done since time began to bother itself with human beings.

But men have been the providers, and women have, of necessity, cultivated a forgiving attitude of mind, often when the forgiving spirit was lacking.

Hundreds of wives have excused disreputable conduct on the part of husbands and fathers because they saw only starvation facing them if they rebelled.

Hundreds of wives to-day would take their children and go away from unfaithful, dissipated and brutal men if were they financially independent.

So, perhaps, after all, the man who is the provider and still forgives the wife who strays away to pastures new may be credited with more nobility of mind than the average woman who accepts her repentant husband and remains with him to outward view for purely material reasons.

Perhaps the husband has indulged in a little wholesome retrospection and realizes that he was in fault, and that his wife would never have proved disloyal had he shown the consideration and thought for her happiness the fanciful child found in the "other man."

Supremely Selfish

IT is usually by comparison that "the other man" and the "other woman" shine with aureoles about their brows, to the harrowing sense of disappointed wives and husbands.

This particular woman, however, left a child behind her in her flight, and the first intimation the husband had of her disloyalty to him was when he returned home and found the child crying with hunger and loneliness and discovered the woman had gone with the "other man."

The wife who leaves her husband may become a good wife to him after he corrects the faults which drove her away.

But the mother who leaves a little child, to go with her "affinity," will need the experience of another incarnation to make her a really good woman.

She is too utterly selfish and cruel to reform wholly in this life.

The man who breaks his vows and drives a good woman to desperate acts of folly is responsible for her misconduct, but where is the excuse for a mother who has brought a helpless child into the world and who leaves it weeping and hungry and disgraced, to forfeit the best of her selfish inclinations?

It would be wiser for the husband of such a woman to hasten divorce proceedings and to place the child far from the influence of such a mother.

Told in the Canebrakes

By Wex Jones

OLD Bill Scruggs, who's made rugs of a million billion bears,
Starts with "I remember (others settle in their chairs)
Near the place I ran a race with a bear of dreadful mien,
Which had passes on my dress that I flew across the scene.
I wouldn't cast no strictures on the so-called moving pictures,
But on moving they were akin by that miserable run—
Twenty miles in twenty minutes was the distance that I done;
Till in jumping over a house I took a sudden souse—
Bit too low—bit not too—and the bear was snuffling 'Raus!'
'All is over, little rover!' for the end had come, I felt,
As I wondered how those hunch-hooks would lacerate my pelt."
"What did save you, comrade?" cried all the crowd that sat beside.
"By my troth, just a moth!"—and eyes were opened wide—
"A moth came along, with a flicker and a flit,
And the fear beat it home to save his costly fur."

ALL the hunters clapped their hands and cheered him without bias,
Save a toothful one in khaki, who muttered, "Ananias!"
